

Stink-o-saurus

Words and Music by
Deano Yipadee

Illustrations by
Paul Beavis

Watch out for Stan, the world's first Stink-o-saurus!

Stan is a dinosaur with a problem. A smelly problem. So smelly, the others don't want to play with poor Stan. Then along comes Tommy T-Rex, a huge dinosaur – with attitude! Will Stan the Stink-o-saurus be a hero and save the day?

- Hilarious song with an easy-to-sing melody and a catchy refrain
- Brilliantly illustrated with the quirky art of Paul Beavis
- Every child who loved the fartilicious Jingle Bells, Rudolph Smells will be dying to get their hands on this new book!

Praise for Nee Naw, the Little Fire Engine

Best-selling children’s musician, author and producer, Dean O’Brien aka Deano Yipadee, was born and raised in Mosgiel, Otago, NZ. Deano has topped the UK Children’s Music Bestsellers Charts on numerous occasions and has headlined at the Glastonbury Music Festival Kidz Field. He now tours across New Zealand, Australia and England with his American wife and two British children. The family dilemma is always which line to pick at airport passport control. His previous books with Scholastic NZ are Jingle Bells, Rudolph Smells and Nee Naw, the Little Fire Engine, both with Paul Beavis.

Paul Beavis studied Graphic Design in London, before working in children’s animation for the BBC and Channel 4 – a job that probably planted the seed of being a picture-book creator. “The process of drawing dinosaurs takes me back to my childhood and the many hours that were spent at the Natural History Museum in London. Arriving to see that huge Diplodocus skeleton looming over me would get my imagination going every time. So I’m certain that younger me would very much enjoy the adventure of Stan, the world’s first Stink-o-saurus.”
