

SQUARE EYES

Words and music by Craig Smith

Illustrations by Scott Tulloch

From Craig Smith, creator of the phenomenally successful The Wonky Donkey, here's another hugely popular song for kids, now in picture-book format.

Panda and his friends sit inside on the couch all day, glued to the TV screen or multi-screening with tablets too, so in this fun song, singer/songwriter Smith encourages them to get up, get outdoors and exercise!

- A consistently number 1 bestselling author
- Smith's trademark funny lyrics with a slightly 'naughty' edge, appeal to both children and adults
- Hilariously illustrated by collaborator Scott Tulloch (My Daddy Ate an Apple)
- Smith's The Wonky Donkey was a sensational hit in NZ and Australia, and was also a NZ Post Children's Choice Award winner

Publication	October 2014
ISBN	978-1-77543-269-2
NZ RRP	$21.00
Printing	Full colour
Binding	Paperback
Format	250 x 240mm
Extent	24pp + Audio CD
Age	All
Lexile	Read aloud
Rights available	World excl. ANZ, China, Taiwan, Japan, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia, Thailand, Philippines, Vietnam, Korea

Craig Smith

Singer/songwriter Craig Smith is an itinerant musician, originally from Christchurch, who performs around NZ and Australia. Craig now lives in Queenstown.

Scott Tulloch

Scott Tulloch also lives in Queenstown, and is the illustrator of the recent Scholastic titles How Does the Giraffe Get to Work?, My Daddy Ate an Apple, On the Road to Tuapeka, Tom and the Dragon, and the Joy Cowley award winner Wooden Arms. Scott also wrote and illustrated the hilarious I Am Not a Worm!, and The Silly Goat

Praise for The Wonky Donkey

"Storytime Must-Have!" – Goodreads

"Every Kiwi child should have a copy of this book - it's going to become one of those Kiwi icons in a few years along with jandals, pavlova and Buzzy Bee!"

– 1001 Book Reviews for Kids

"Once you read it, you'll soon agree that it's a story that you and your children will want to read over and over again!" – My Little Bookcase

SCHOLASTIC
open a world of possible